The chart displays the monthly evolution of the 10-year Treasury yield. The x-axis represents time from January 2025 to November 2025, with major ticks every three months. The y-axis represents the yield percentage, ranging from 3.00% to 5.00% in 0.25% increments. The yield starts at approximately 4.25% in January, peaks at 4.75% in May, and then generally declines to around 3.50% by November.

The chart displays the monthly change in the number of people in the labor force. The x-axis represents time from January 2025 to October 2025. The y-axis represents the change in the number of people, with a grid showing increments of 100,000. The data shows a general downward trend with significant fluctuations. There is a sharp drop in late 2025, reaching a low point around -1,000,000, followed by a recovery and then another sharp drop in early 2026.
